AUSTRIANS ROUTED ON 40-MILE FRONT

War Savings Stamp Drive Starts Here Tomorrow

Over $140,000 Will Have to Be Subscribed to Meet $300,000 Allotment

DISTRICTS ORGANIZED FOR QUICK CANVASS

One Hundred Fifty Men and Women Will Act As Solicitors

Be ready tomorrow morning to sign up a War Savings Stamp pledge when the committee calls. Don't ask them to call again or to see someone in town. The solicitors are busy men and women and you can help them by doing your duty without delay. you are going away, call at the Chamber of Commerce, or any of the banks, and sign a pledge. Santa Ana must go over the top before June 28th or be classed as a slacker. The city has never failed-keep the record clean.

This is national War Savings Stamp week, and every city and hamlet in the United States will be engaged during the week in subscribing its quota to the War Savings Stamp issue. This war will be won when every able person in these United States has a feel ing of personal responsibility, and not until then. This is a war for you, your wife, your mother, your children-a war to make tomorrow safe for them. To win this war the government must have money, and that money must come from the savings of the American people. The boys are fighting for you-you must fight for them. Fight your needless desires; fight your aversion to economy; fight your cravings for non-essentials; fight to save for those who fight for you.

President Wilson appeals to every man, woman and child to pledge themselves to the purchase of War Savings Stamps on or before June 28th-next

Local Organization

Every precinct in the city has been organized for the local drive which starts tomorrow morning. Two men have been named as captains in each precinct, and they have selected workers by streets and blocks. If every one does his duty in the morning, the work of the solicitors will be easy and their task will have been accomplished within two or three hours. Every family should decide before tomorrow morning just what it will pledge to save and invest in War Savings Stamps the balance of this year. When the solicitors call at the door in the morning whoever answers should be in position to sign the family Grubb. amount without hesitation-without delay-without argument.

The stamp issue of $2,000,000,000 is for this year only. It was designed Betts. to give the people of small capital and the wage earner an opportunity to help their government by saving a little each week or month and investing it in stamps. The stamps draw 4 per cent interest, compounded quarterly, and are redeemable in five Blee. The investment of $4.17 will return the investor $5 four years and Duggan. a half from the first of next month-

They will receive instructions and materials with which to conduct the canvass. Perry Weidner of Los Angeles will be in attendance and make a brief talk. Weidner is an enthusiastic War Savings Stamp worker. He will advise workers on the best method of presenting the stamps to prospective purchasers.

Every section of Orange county has been organized for the week, some of the communities having started their Theal. work last week and others working exclusively this week. County Chairman John McFadden believes the county will go over the top of the $903,000, and hopes to see it made an even million dollars.

There is considerable speculation as to the effect the retreat on the Piave will have on the impending renewal of the Austrian drive southward from the mountain area. It has been known for several days that the enemy had massed heavy forces in the mountains preparatory to another effort to reach the Venetian plains. Whether the Piave defeat will hasten this drive as a diversion or will cause its indefinite postponement is problematical. British troops in a surprise attack south of Asiago penetrated the Aus-

Austrians Admit Defeat, Prepare to Tell People

LONDON, June 24.—The Austrian war office through its official statement, yesterday began to prepare the Austrian people for the announcement of the withdrawal from the Piave.

"Heavy rains have placed under water broad stretches of the Venetians and have increased the burdens and privations of our troops," the statement said. "The Piave has become a rushing stream and its volumes of waters have many times made it impossible for several hours to communicate between the two banks. It is only possible with the greatest difficulty to provide the fighting men with the most necessary supplies of munitions and provisions.

The British employed tanks in night raids for the first time when a num ber of them participated in a raid near Bucquoy Saturday. They inflicted great damage on the enemy and returned safely. Nothing of special interest was reported from the British front last night. The French war office re-

THE GREAT OFFENSIVE

United Press War Summary

(1422nd day of the war; 96th day of the big offensive.) Italian Front-The greatest military defeat suffered by Austria in this war appears to be in the making. Semi-official reports indicate the retreat across the Piave has become an utter rout. Both the military and political effects of this retirement are expected to be more far reaching in earlier retreats from Galacia and Serbia, when Austrian food and reserves were plentiful. Italian cavalry and infantry have crossed the Piave at the point where the Austrians made the greatest gain in this drive. Only a few Austrian detachments remain on the west point between that point and Senson five miles to the point. The important Montello crest, which at one time was almost wholly in the hands of the enemy, has been entirely reclaimed. Thousands of Austrians are being slain in their precipitate flight. Other thousands are probably being captured. Enormous quantities of materials are being abandoned. The Italians have recovered all the guns they lost in the initial stages of the Austrian drive. Emperor Karl, who evidently had returned to Vienna because of the political and economic situation, is reported to have hurried back to the

But I think it will prove a success purchased at too heavy a cost in the lives and resulting only in the inevitable collapse of the German military machine," said Lord Dunmore. As a Result, Unity of Action of Allies In Slav Domain Is Demanded

WASHINGTON, June 24.-Germany is preparing for a vigorous peace move at the expense of Russia, government authorities here are convinced.

To meet this anticipated move a tremendous effort is being made to bring about unity of purpose in Russia between the United States, Great Britain and France.

The need for some agreed policy is admitted. Germany, by launching a peace offensive, offering to give up Belgium, northern France and make satisfactory settlements with Italy provided she be allowed to expand in Russia would confront the French and British governments with a very serious problem. The time has come, allied diplomats say, when President Wilson, if he will not sanction Japanese intervention in Russia, must come forward with some alternative if Russia is to be saved.

FURTHER EXPLOITATION

OF RUSSIA IN PROSPECT LONDON, June 24.—The Bolsheviki are about to conclude a commercial pact with Germany which would sub ject Russia to further exploitation, it is indicated in an undated despatch from Moscow received today.

The interest, he said, would be paid in raw materials.

Austrian Riots Indicates Nation's Collapse and Withdrawal From War

BY J. W. T. MASON (United Press War Expert) NEW YORK, June 24.-While Ausria's collapse and withdrawal from war cannot be fixed at any definite time as a result of the present disturbances in Vienna, there is no doubt but that the dual monarchy must be the next country to follow Russia's example if the war contin-ies long enough. The terrible strain of four years of conflict has been weakening even to the most powerful of the belligerent nations. It is impossible for any of them to continue fighting uninterruptedly for an indefinite period. The war has entered its final phase of exhaustion, which must continue until If It Remains Flooded, Allies the German militarists accept a democratic peace. The power of exhaustion will necessarily affect the least robust nationalities first and Austria-Hungary is now the weakest of all the great nations in the conflict.

STORM DATA

Information to Be Used In Devising Control of Santa Ana River Floods

Orange county has been asked to contribute $1,000 toward a fund to be used for gathering data in re-lation to the run-off of waters from the mountains that shed into the Santa Ana river. This data will be of great value when it comes to devising some systematic scheme for complete control of the storm waters of the Santa Ana

The details of the plan as they now stand are indicated in a letter received by the Board of Supervisors today from W. A. Johnstone, president of the State Water Commission. That letter follows: Dear Sir: An effort was made last year to bring about a co-operative study of the precipitation, run-off, and ground water supply of the Santa Ana watershed through the United States Weather Bureau, United States Geo-logical Survey, the Forest Service, and the three counties on the river. This proposal was brought to the attention of a number of the public or-ganizations in your county. We de-sired to present the matter to your body, but were unfortunate in going there when your Board was not in session. The same sort of study is al-ready in operation in Los Angeles county, and very useful and valuable data is being secured. Asking for Fund

It is estimated that a complete in-stallation of gauges and the necessary part of maintenance for the first year be supplied by the three counties on the watershed would involve an outlay of from $12,000 to $14,000 in all, or about $4000 from each county. Assistance in caring for them only thereafter, would be needed.

Unfortunately, on account of difficulties in arranging the necessary de tails for carrying this plan out be-tween the departments, we were not able to present it until the annual budgets had been made up, and the loss of the citrus crop made it impos sible for the Supervisors to make spe cial appropriations for the purpose. Because of the war conditions i eems advisable to do no more than make a beginning this year, and for this reason we are asking that each county provide $1000 this year to install the more important stations, with the understanding that the mone;

We have been told that Riverside will meet any contributions made by San Bernardino county and we trust that we may rely upon your board to do the same because of your mutual interest in this water

I think that it is needless for me to point out to you the great advantage to be derived from such a co-operative study. EVERYBODY IN THE GAME

This is the week to get into the Thrift Stamp game definitely and vigorously, with a determination to purchase Thrift and War Savings Stamps and the War Savings Certificates to the limit!

The children of the country are already interested and working enthusiastically. Grown-ups have been playing with the idea and using it chiefly to encourage youngsters to save. It is time now for adults to realize their responsibility in the thrift campaign.

Congress has asked the country to invest $2,000,-000,000 in such stamps this year. That money is needed to help deal the death blow to Prussianism. Raising it is a task for all of us, old and young.

June 28 has been designated as a national pledge day in the stamp campaign. That day should find every American pledged to purchase just as many stamps as he possibly can and to save the money for them by refraining from foolish purchases and expensive little pleasures. One effective way to push the thrift campaign is to buy a definite number of stamps regularly, rain or shine. But even with a fixed day and hour for the purchase of stamps, there would be no harm and much good in acquiring the habit of making other purchases between times.

Buying Thrift Stamps is a better means of saving than dropping small coins in a little metal bank, because it is constructive saving. It is a better way of getting rid of loose change than spending it for small luxuries, because it helps win the war. It is an investment for the purchaser, a source of funds for Uncle Sam and a telling weapon against the kaiser.

TRAVELING INTO AUSTRIA

"Now send us only four divisions of Americans," says an Italian general. "We will first shake hands, and then travel together into Austria.'

It can be done, too. The magnificent defense of Italy against the big Austrian drive shows the mettle of the Italian army today. The developments of the last week have added encouragement to the faith of the Allies in Italy, which today is at the zenith of its morale and power. It stood like a rock against the impact of nearly a million foemen. It may plunge forward like a battering ram when the Austrian blow has spent itself and the supreme Allied command gives

The Italians do not need American help to defeat the demoralized remnants of the Austrian military power, thrown together at Germany's bidding for this forlorn hope. Austria has never, in this war, been victorious on any front without a stiffening of German troops. Germany is now so busy on her western front that she can not spare men for the stiffening. If she does send a few divisions, they will be unavailing. The Italians are no longer afraid of Germans. They will beat them back as our own boys are doing in France. It would be a fine thing, for all that, to send a few Yankee divisions to Italy. Our government is said to favor such a step, as evidence of our sympathy and solidarity with our southern allies. Those fiery Italians would fight all the better for it, and every American would rejoice in the knowledge that we shared their victorious advance.

If we are to take the dispatches for truth-and evidently they are true-Austro-Hungary is starving, sick of war, exhausted. Half her people are rebellious the other half discouraged. She seems on the verge of going to pieces. A smashing disaster will put her out of the fighting as effectually as Russia has been put out. If this prediction comes true, the end of the war may be nearer than we think. However, we must be prepared to meet the situation, should the later"people of Austria be held down under the heel of the German military program.

SURGERY PROMISES

Modern surgery holds out more than hope to soldiers and to the families waiting for them at home The thing most dreaded by the American lads who are going so gladly to the battle front is the prospect of returning maimed, or badly disfigured in face The promise of modern surgery is that this particular horror can and will be overcome.

Occasional information has reached us of marvels performed in Europe during this war, of features remodeled, of faces built up where nearly all human semblance seemed lost.

The same things that have been done for European soldiers will be done for the Americans. And more, too, for new skill is constantly developing, new experiments are being brought to successful conclusion, new methods are winning laurels.

It is one of the fine things of that war that the wounded and crippled soldier is considered of se much importance, that his right to return home as nearly whole and useful and normal as possible is recognized by doctors and public alike.

Our heroes are not to be left to pity and charity when they have given their best for humanity. The world owes them a debt that it is willing and eager to pay. We shall pay our part of the debt with the finest care that a humanely directed science can give.

SAVING CLOTH AND LEATHER

The new clothing restrictions for next year, as announced by the war industries board, have few terrors for men.

Most of us will be quite content with sack coats shortened to 36 inches, or an extreme 371/2 inches that is what makes me look like this." for tall men. Coat length has always been regulated by arbitrary style rather than utility or beauty, anyhow; and we'd just as lief wear Uncle Sam's style peas. What shall I do? as the tailors'. We can worry along, too, with only three outside pockets, and without back straps and -Tid-Bits, London.

pocket flaps on our trousers. Some of the greatest i nen this country ever produced never wore straps and flaps. It is no hardship, either, to be restricted to ten models. One or two models is all the most of us use at a time.

Coming now to shoes, with special reference to women, because men's shoes have already been put [on a pretty good war basis, we find that height is to be reduced to a maximum of eight inches from heel to top, and that colors are to be limited to black, white and two shades of tan. This is drastic, but a sympahetic male can find no atrocity in it.

Comment of Orange County Papers

Orange News: As an anonymous poet sings:

Now doth the busy city man delight his spade, And overturn the waiting soil and level down the grade. And when the bed is spaded up and free from roots and stones. He goes and gets the arnica, and groans and groans and groans.

And the groans won't hurt him any. He'd have a heap better reason for groaning if that garden spade

Come to think of it, though, the boys with the renching spades don't groan over their aches and blisters.

Placentia Courier: Smith is a busy man, yet he must leave his work, find Jones and plead with Jones to buy War Stamps. Smith is under no more of an obligation to do this than Jones is. The war is Smith's war and Jones' war and our war, and if we don't win it this country won't be worth much to any of us-we'll be working for Kaiser Bill. Smith and Jones and everyone else should come in and buy, without compelling some other man to waste his valuable time in running them down. Don't you think so, too?

Anaheim Gazette: The order of the government that all men within the draft age, who are engaged in useless or unnecessary occupations shall transfer themselves to fields of usefulness by the first of July has caused considerable commotion among the young men of Anaheim. Many of them have given up jobs and are seeking work in the oil fields and ship yards. The order is intended to apply mainly to young men whose chief occupation appears to be loafing around pool rooms doing nothing.

"Blue Monday," July 1

From the Atlanta Constitution July 1 will be "Blue Monday" for the American idler of service eligibility, for from and after that date, according to the orders of a power mightier than he, he will be forced either to busy himself at something productive, constructive and useful, or else to put on a suit of olive drab and get ready to fight!

Ev- day. Gates Cook, her husband, was mile chase. federal order to the general effect outlined above.

The general is right, and the order is amply justified. Furthermore, it is timely, and will be effective as

In this day when the world is blazing-when every day brings grief-pangs to American mothers' and fathers' hearts from over yonder where some of our boys are fighting and dying and making honorable and glorious history-and when "the harvest truly is plenteous but he laborers are few' at home, it does not make for contentment on the part of the real workers who are keeping the boilers fired, to see others, equally capable of working, lolling in ease or idling or following occupations in which a girl or a boy could serve equally well.

Uncle Sam, beginning on "Blue Monday," July 1, is going to put out his dragnets, catch all of such fellows drag them in and put them in some sort of harness that will fit and that will make them sweat.

Good for Uncle Sam!

Nuevo Ranch Is Endorsed By Orange County Ranchers. Only $250 An Acre!

Dozens of ranchers have sold their farms in Orange County and bought land at Nuevo Ranch. Every one of them has become an enthusiastic booster for this rich, productive section. These men have written us letters filled with praise of Nuevo Ranch. Mr. A. L. Carter, a former Orange County rancher, writes as follows:

"Gentlemen: The type of land I bought at Nuevo would be worth $500 an acre in the Santa Ana district. The soil is of great depth and is easy to work, and there is no hardpan. I don't believe there is a better potato, olive, peach or apricot country anywhere. I have grown potatoes here in 90 days that have brought fancy prices. On a single acre I raised $200 worth of melons, and some of them weighed 20 pounds apiece. This valley has a wonderful future, and the strongest endorsement it could have is the fact that it is being rapidly settled almost exclusively by ranchers from Orange County."
